OP CEDAW: OP CEDAW: resource guide now in Russian!

Our Rights Are Not Optional! Advocating for the implementation of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW) through its Optional Protocol” is a title of the great resource guide successfully translated to Russian within the programme of IWRAP Asia Pacific (International Women’s Rights Action Watch Asia Pacific) with the support of KARAT Coalition. This easy-to-use publication seeks to contribute to the ratification process of the Optional Protocol to CEDAW as well as to its effective use at the national level. The guide contains practical information for the individuals, women’s rights NGOs and other actors advocating for women’s human rights.

The Resource Guide comes in three sections. Section A provides a general overview of the CEDAW Convention and its Optional Protocol; Section B details the legal, political and strategic dimensions in promoting the OP ratification; Section C focuses on enhancing advocacy and the treaty use. Set of handouts and the supplementary materials are available within the publication as well.

OP CEDAW: international capacity building training

An international training on the Optional Protocol to CEDAW organized by KARAT Coalition and IWRAP Asia Pacific for the women’s group from Belarus, Georgia, Moldova, Ukraine, Kyrgyzstan and Poland took place in Warsaw on 10 -13 September, 2008. The organizers’ primary objective was to strengthen the potentials for using the OP as a tool for the protection and promotion of women’s human rights under CEDAW. The participants had an opportunity to increase their capacity on the technical requirements for filing a communication; analyze the observance of women’s human rights at the national level as well as to consider the merits of potential communications (or requests for inquire procedure) to the CEDAW Committee. The need for the future cooperation and support with using the Optional Protocol has been identified while discussing the strategies for OP CEDAW promotion at the national and regional level. The meeting created also a room for the experiences exchange and learning about the participant’s countries laws related to discrimination.

The similar training is planned for the women’s NGO from the Caucasus and Central Asia region in 2009.

For more information about the project visit www.karat.org.pl or write to Aleksandra Solik at: Aleksandra.solik@karat.org.pl

OP CEDAW: IWRAP AB and TOT in Warsaw

Meeting of the IWRAP Asia Pacific Advisory Group composed of the representatives of the different world region, followed by the Global Training of Trainers on the Optional Protocol to CEDAW took place in Warsaw on 14 to 15 and 16 to 18 September 2008. While the Training of Trainers aimed at developing the new education materials on the Optional Protocol for the women trainers worldwide, the Advisory Body – with Kinga Lohmann from KARAT as a Europe region representative - discussed the IWRAP Asia Pacific strategy for the following year. It was decided that the action plan for 2009 will focus on the effective use of the Optional Protocol with the women submitting the communication or request for inquiries to the CEDAW Committee. KARAT took care about the logistics management for both events.

Fairplay: final international mobilization in Hong Kong

Play Fair activists from Poland (KARAT Coalition), Austria (Suedwind Agentur) and Germany (Inkota) together with the local Hong Kong organizations confronted the International Olympic Committee (IOC) with the petition calling to take up the responsibility for widespread and continuous exploitation of workers in the manufactures of Olympic-branded products. The event was a final of the Play Fair 2008 Campaign for positive action to clean up Olympic supply chains taking place in Hong Kong, China on 3 of August 2008.

The final day of Campaign included various activities i.e photo moment, speakers corner and posters showing the IOC lack of commitment to basic workers rights as unacceptable. Starting at the Olympic Piazza where activists dressed up for referees spoke against worker's rights violations, the action moved to IOC Headquarters to leave the signed petition with the IOC representatives.

Fairplay: acting on Nike Human race

On September 31st, just before the start of the Nike Human race in Warsaw, KARAT Coalition activists organized a consumer action as a part of the Fair Play in sporting goods industry project. The aim of the action was to raise awareness among the runners and the spectators about the power the global sportswear brands like Nike have to stop the exploitation of workers in their supply chains. To prove that production of the "fair T-shirts" is possible the activists were giving out T-shirts manufactured by the women's collective in Nicaragua with respect to worker's rights. To express their support many runners put on the "Fair play in sporting goods industry" stickers on their T-shirts. They also signed an appeal to Mrs. H. Jones, Nike vice-president, calling for a positive action for change.

We encourage you to join the appeal online:

Women in Supermarkets: the researched conducted

"Situation of women employed in super/hyper markets in Poland" is the title of the research report conducted in the frames of the project "Labour rights protection from gender perspective in super/ hyper markets in Poland". The research gave an updated information about the super/hyper markets' ways of acting that require a significant improvement, and about the current situation and working conditions there.

Main conclusion of the report is that, although the Polish labour law is acceptable, its implementation is improper and the labour rights protection system often fails. The most obvious cases of labour rights infringement include abusing the length of shifts and breaks between them or the amount of days worked without a day off. Furthermore, even though there were many cases won by the employees of super/hyper markets against their employers and it was claimed that the situation improved, the violations of the employees' rights are still widespread.

The report is available in Polish at www.karat.org.pl

As a result a joint letter to the heads of the UE institutions (Council, Commission, Parliament) and Ministers for Interior, Justice, Employment and Social Affairs of the UE Member States were produced. The letter calls the decidents to enrich the Pact with the human rights based commitments like the respect for human dignity and fundamental rights, opportunity for immigrants to participate in the society, etc..

Albania: better Gender Equality Law

After much of the discussion quota bill of 30% has been finally passed by the Albanian Parliament in the end of June 2008 as a new measure to the Gender Equality Law (GEL) adopted in the spring this year. It is a great success of the women's CSOs of Albania, particularly Millennium Women Network (MWN) and Albanian Coalition for Promotion of Women and Youth in Politics that came together to mobilize civil society, youth and leaders to support the adoption of the draft GEL in a timely manner, and to ensure that the core articles and special measures protecting and promoting women's empowerment remained in the law. The quota bill is a great step forward for advancement of women in decision-making process aligning with the international norms and standards: CEDAW, Beijing Platform for Action or EU documents. In the context of the on-going Electoral Code revision in the country, it is also the very first time that this article will be discussed during the parliamentary sessions in autumn, so it can be included in the electoral code as well. Women's NGOs remain hopeful the article will be included in the new electoral code, and not be stuck in a gridlock of political debate.

Birth outside large hospital is still considered unsafe, women have to comply with unnecessary routine interventions, are often separated from their babies after birth and independent midwifery is still suppressed by the state authorities. ### Georgia, Russia: women's reaction on war

"Women of Georgia, overcoming all informational barriers addressed Russian women with an appeal to stop infanticidal war and to turn to peace-building. This short news practically unnoticed by the largest media – is one of the most promising, along with Medvedev-Sarkozy plan and Saakashvily signing it" – saying the first lines of the Russian women statement, signed i.a. by the Association of Women Journalist - KARAT Member organization - that appeared in all Russian independent newspapers (around 2 mln copies) when the war in Georgia broke out in the beginning of August 2008.

“As long as human memory exists, every time, after the cannons stopped their cannonade, it is women who fire up a furnace, look after the wounded ones, teach the children to befriend a neighbor’s child – a yesterday’s enemy, and find words – not of hatred, but of compassion.... “

Slovakia: reporting to CEDAW committee

Slovakia was one of the countries reporting to the UN Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) during its 41st session held in July 2008. Even though the Committee welcomed the Slovak Government progress on CEDAW implementation in the Committee Concluding Observation the state’s serious shortcomings were highlighted. The Committee concern areas were: limited access to the legal protection against discrimination, gender stereotypes in the society, poor sexual and reproductive health services, disadvantaged situation of Romani women, violence and trafficking. Filling up the Slovak state obligations under CEDAW was also addressed by the women’s and human rights NGOs via Shadow Report submitted to the Committee. Alliance of Women in Slovakia – KARAT member organization – was one of the Shadow Report carriers.

UE News

EU accession concerns with Ukraine

The EU/Ukraine Summit that was hold in the Elysée Palace in Paris on 9th of September 2008 did not go much further with the membership perspective for Ukraine. The summit that was expected to adopt the declaration on the future of the EU/Ukraine Cooperation and Partnership agreement concluded that the legal basis of the EU and Ukraine relations will be referred as an “association agreement” that is “leaving the door open to progressive further developments in EU-Ukraine relations”. That is not what the Ukraine was counting for – specially after the Georgia crisis destabilization. But there are also different voices among the UE states themselves. Olli Rehn, the EU's enlargement commissioner, had warned that Ukraine could become Russia's next target if it was not offered membership.
